Wireless Bluetooth streaming of built-in Phono preamplifier and additional line source

Our entry level phono stage has been highly requested by the aspiring and rising audiophile. After the big success of our VT-E BT we decided to create a phono preamplifier that turns any turntable (with moving magnet cartridge) into a modern Bluetooth streamer. Phono Box E BT offers two separate inputs, one phono and one line level input, as well as two separate outputs. It can be used as an ordinary MM phono stage that connects to any hifi amplifier via its line level output (3.5mm jack) or it can be used as a Bluetooth streamer. It takes any provided analogue input signal, converts it and sends digital audio to any Bluetooth receiver within a 10m range. Those devices could be either Bluetooth headphones, speakers or any other Bluetooth receiver. The super-fast pairing is the icing on the cake and makes sure that listening to your LPs will be as painless and quick as possible.

The housing is shielded with a metal interior which protects the unit against vibrations and radio frequency interferences, which guarantees an undisturbed listening experience.

Phono Box E BT is the perfect companion for all modern audiophiles who want to enjoy their vinyl hobby with the comfort of wireless streaming!
